

America where are you?

America, America where are you? Are you a virtuous nation? You are not yet a nation of atheists. You are not yet a nation of fanatics. But are you a nation of believers? Love creates life! Love accepts responsibility! Love stays true to its Creator! Does love and life mean anything anymore? It seems not. You are more a nation of pagans! Love between a man and a woman is not sacrosanct and therefore life in the womb is not sacrosanct. Civil unions between non-heterosexuals cannot yield life, are therefore loveless and yet are becoming the law of the land. Violence against life (abortion, euthanasia) and spirit (immorality) are accepted in the name of freedom! The separation of church and state charade has yielded a privately religious and publicly pagan nation. Such a nation is an oxymoron unacceptable to God's creation. God's patience with the violent of life and spirit has never been infinite. When the reckoning finally arrives we will have only ourselves to blame.
