

The Final Judgment

Another reality planted unshakably deep in our being, is our conception into eternity. There are millions of "little ones" who have suffered brutally, fatally, our refusal to love them, who now bask in the light of the Author of eternal love. When that Author asks why we never bore witness to Him in the lives of these "little ones", no answer can save anyone. Eternity is now, not later. Living eternal reality now, demands full consciousness of real eternal justice. Freedom without responsibility is a failure to humanity and not what we were created for. To create life and deny its freedom to live is loveless irresponsibility. To deny this reality and refuse to love is to live at great peril. The price of such indifference to truth is eternal loss. Collectively and individually, judgment is later or sooner, unavoidable. Be prepared. Still too few witnesses for life!

Frank K. Porter Jr.