

Life without Life

Our junior Senator Kerry was missing in action a long time while he ran for president. It didn't have any effect on Massachusetts. Our senior Senator Kennedy's latest achievement after 43 years in office is a 56 page children's book, conveniently published in time for his perpetual re-election campaign. This will have no effect either on Massachusetts. Of course re-election of Democrats is a right of passage in Massachusetts. Marty Meehan proved that in spades, when his "term limit" promise came due, he happily cast it by the wayside. In federal tax dollars returned to the state we rank 44th, 6th from the bottom. In combined state and federal tax burden we rank 4th from the top. We certainly owe the Democrats a dept of gratitude for these statistics. So you might say we spend a lot and get little in return, including representation. But I digress. Besides their inordinate interests in taxes, which constituents do the Democrats appear to be the real champions for?

Our senior senator highlighted the real Democrat constituency, for the entire world to see, in the recent Alito hearings. Abortionists, whose mission it is to deny life to Unborn Americans. Abortionists violently destroy human life, (include Unborn American women's lives), but that is ok with Senator Kennedy. And aren't civil (rights) unions the other real constituency, protecting those who cannot create human life? Seems right to suggest that life without life is the real agenda of federal and state Democrats as represented handily by Senator Kennedy. Maybe it is all about sex after all. Unborn American gestation is far removed from their sight but America's genitals are not. The latest legislation (<http://www.article8.org/general/mcfl/1641.htm>) proposed in Massachusetts would force sexual indoctrination upon public school children from kinder garden through high school. Life without life (in every detail) needs to be taught to the most impressionable where it will have the maximum benefit. Once that passes will the next step be legislation to force DSS to monitor any family which objects? The Democratic social engineers know best how to protect children, from their parents, don't they?

It's also clear that Catholic Democrats hold Kennedy and Kerry in most high esteem compared with O'Malley and Benedict. The Church has been a paper tiger in turning Catholic politicians from their reverence for life without life. Legislation affording the State the right to oversee the Church financial books is pending and why not. Politicians are now prepared to skirmish with the Church and attempt direct control. So the drip-drip-drip of the relentless Democrat political machine grinds on, grinding up any threat that gets in its way. Life without life is on the fast track, firmly established in Massachusetts and has a voracious appetite. Picture the worst and it will not stop there, guaranteed. I cancelled their newspaper (Boston Globe) long ago and continually vote against them but to no avail. We have what we have allowed, a morality humanity and Massachusetts can't survive with and too few who really care.

Frank K. Porter Jr.
22 January 2006