

Only an opinion

The rule of law written on our hearts, once abandoned, allows the laws written by man to be abandoned also. The Democrats revel in this freedom as they believe that the law is for their benefit to apply or not apply on a case by case basis. Immigration laws are flaunted, financial laws are flaunted, sacred laws are flaunted and their solution to all Americas problems is to simply print more money and they will gain power and hold it. Political insanity works for awhile but eventually it destroys the practitioner. Border “sanctuary” towns will soon belong to the country to which the “illegal entrants” owe their true allegiance and a government conducted without fiscal responsibility, printing more money to prevent its collapse, is simply precipitating the inevitable. Sovereign and fiscal chaos will render America unrecognizable. Then the Democrats will be shocked to find themselves powerless trying to govern something that no longer exists.
